FESTIVALS

HALLOWEEN

Halloween

Halloween is celebrated on the night of October 31st.

Halloween is very popular in Ireland, the USA, Canada and the UK.

Many families carve a pumpkin to decorate the house.

Children play apple bobbing : apples float in a large basin of water and participants must catch an apple with their teeth.

They tell ghost stories and watch horror films at Halloween parties.

Trick or treating is an activity for children. They go from house to house in costume and ask for sweets with the question : "Trick or Treat".

BONFIRE NIGHT

On Bonfire night (November 5th), British people commemorate the capture of Guy Fawkes, the man who tried to blow up* the government and the king.

There are bonfires* and fireworks*. People burn an effigy of "Guy", they eat toffee apples and jacket potatoes.

THANKSGIVING

In 1621, the Pilgrim Fathers* had a Thanksgiving party to thank God for their first crop* and they invited Native Americans (Indians) to share food.

Every year, on the fourth Thursday in November, American families get together, have a special meal* and give thanks for all the good things in their lives.

Menu : Corn, turkey with stuffing*, potatoes and green beans and pumpkin pie
